

Tyrepliers

Description:

Tyrepliers was a home grown invention by Mr Chris Watson (Founding Managing Director.)

Development of the original was between 1980 and 1986. Manufacturing commenced in late 1986 and it was in the home garage up until 1990. The market for the product increased to the point where production could no longer be sustained from a residential garage. In 1990 Tyrepliers

Engineering was formed and the operation was moved to a more suitable commercial manufacturing facility in Sunbury. Tyrepliers has now developed into a company that employs 7 full time staff. The product range has grown from its humble beginnings to an ever increasing range of tyre repair equipment.

Since our inception in 1986 we have been involved many shows, and I'm proud to say that we have been awarded for best products time and time again. Including one of Australia's most prestige's awards the "Silver Award" for Best 4x4 Aftermarket Product at the 1996 Motoring Industry Awards"

But our most satisfying moment came in 1998, when we ventured to the United States of America to exhibit in the world renowned "Sema Show". We came away from the show with Runner Up (only to Warn's Black Diamond Suspension) for the " Best New Off Road Product 1998"

The Company is very proud of its achievements and reputation as a Defence Manufacturer, Employer and Exporter. The Company is also proud of its national and international Patents, Trademarks and Design registrations.
